

Having participants from every walk of life is so important to the All of Us Research Program.

We're all human, but we're not all the same. Often our differences—like age, ethnicity, lifestyle habits, or where we live—can reveal important insights about our health.

WATCH VIDEO

Meet Our New Community + Provider Partners

“It’s been essential for us from the very start to have diverse voices at the table...”

—Dara Richardson-Heron, MD, Chief Engagement Officer, All of Us Research Program

We're excited to welcome fourteen new community groups and health care provider associations to the All of Us Research Program.

VIEW OUR NEW PARTNERS

WHAT IS BETA TESTING?

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED

We're still in the early stages of creating the features, tools, and resources we want to have available for all participants. Before we open All of Us across the United States, we're enrolling a limited number of people as beta testers. Developing a program of this size is not easy. We want to be sure we get it right.

EXPLORE THE FAQs

Ideas Wanted.

We want to hear from you! Tell us what unique research questions you think the All of Us Research Program could address. Submit your ideas and vote on other ideas by February 23, 2018.

SUBMIT YOUR IDEAS

el Programa Científico All of Us

The All of Us participant experience is now available in Spanish. Learn about the program, get help from our Support Center, sign up, and even receive this newsletter—all in Spanish.

VIEW SPANISH SITE

The All of Us Newsletter is sent every two months to participants and others who are interested in receiving updates and information about the All of Us Research Program.

Unsubscribe

We respect your privacy. Please view our Privacy Policy.

All of Us is a service mark of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.