Who is responsible for EHR data once it gets to the central All of Us database?

The central All of Us database is the responsibility of the Data and Research Center (DRC). There are seven organizations in the DRC. Each of them has small teams who work with EHR data in the central All of Us database. There are people who oversee these small teams of computer experts working with your EHR data. They are responsible for making sure the teams do their job and your EHR data is safe. If you would like to know more about who runs the central All of Us database, you can call us at (844) 842-2855.
